Calibration Test Pieces

Detectamet's wide range of detector test Pieces and X-ray test cards are available with various sizes and types of contaminant, to suit many applications.

All are calibrated and certified to BS EN ISO 9002 and UKAS calibration.

Regular performance testing of both metal detection and x-ray inspection equipment is an essential feature of a quality management system.

Confirming the accurate performance of a company's process controls to ensure compliance to the QMS requires calibrated test equipment with full traceability.

All Test Pieces purchased from detectamet are issued with a free of charge certificate of conformity relating to the contaminant.

HACCP compliance requires inspection machines to be routinely tested for good quality assurance.

Practice and all due diligence by integrating detectamet's wide range of bespoke test pieces into your quality control management system you will satisfy these needs.

Made with high visibility colour's to allow easy recognition and etched with a traceable code.

The Detectamet team are experts at getting you the perfect test pieces to suit your needs.
